Dear Ms. Tamburro,

We have received your letter of March 9. We appreciate your attention to the very important issue of First Amendment freedoms and the free press rights of journalists, including student journalists.

At University of Wisconsin Oshkosh we embrace the First Amendment and support our student journalists and their right to seek information, as well as our University employees' rights to share information. We continue to review our practices to ensure they embody this point of view and will review with our media relations team to ensure they are complying with our practices and the First Amendment.
