

OTHER DISCRIMINATORY OFFENSES

Other discriminatory offenses of harassment or misconduct may fall under Title IX when gender-based.

Examples of such offenses may include, but are not limited to:

- Threatening or causing physical harm, extreme verbal abuse, or other conduct which threatens or endangers the health or safety of any person;
- Discrimination, defined as actions that deprive other members of the community of educational or employment access, benefits or opportunities;
- Intimidation, defined as implied threats or acts that cause an unreasonable fear of harm in another;
- Hazing, defined as acts likely to cause physical or psychological harm or social ostracism to any person within the university community, when related to the admission, initiation, pledging, joining, or any other group-affiliation activity (as defined further in the student handbook);
- Bullying, defined as repeated and/or severe aggressive behavior likely to intimidate or intentionally hurt, control or diminish another person, physically or mentally (that is not speech or conduct otherwise protected by the 1st Amendment).
- Violence between those in an intimate relationship with each other;
- Stalking, defined as repetitive and/or menacing pursuit, following, harassment and/or interference with the peace and/or safety of a member of the community; or the safety of any of the immediate family of members of the community.

SEXUAL DISCRIMINATION REPORT

By reporting and learning about these types of behavior, you help us to improve our campus community.

A Complainant submitting this report will be contacted by the Title IX Coordinator and asked to sign their complaint in order for it to be considered a formal complaint for official review under the Title IX jurisdictional requirements.
